GUEST NOTE PAPER

Dear Karen and Mike

I'm scribbling this as I sit in the lounge at London Heathrow. The plane is delayed an hour (so far!) so I've finally got some time to write. These quick trips are good for minimizing time away from home, but they sometimes don't leave much leisure time. Since I wrote you last I have been very busy, both at work and at home. The remodeling is taking longer than I hoped, partly due to my travel, partly because I am slow.

I think it will be very nice when this done, but its a big job. The deck is done, Doors and windows in and I'm framing the ceiling. Then its wiring and insulation before it gets any colder! I'm doing it all except wallboard and the vanity. Should be done soon if we can stop traveling.

after starting slow, Travel has really picked up, in the last 2 months I've been to Australia, Manila, and now London. The summer is gone and we had the boat in the water once and never made it to Lake Cushman.

We're looking forward to going to Dennis'
Wedding in Connecticut and doing a little touring. We'll see all the relatives, hopefully.

GUEST NOTE PAPER

I know this writing is terrible, but I am very tired. Don't sleep well for several days on these trips, and tend to crash as soon as they're over.

Things are a little better at work as one of the problems is leaving the group. I hope the other leave soon also.

We really enjoyed your last bunch of slides. The exposure is getting better although some are still too dark.

I'm sure you're disappointed about the film, but I didn't want to spend too lot more than you had in mind without hearing from you.

I'm told you're taking a chance buying film from places like that because its usually not fresh or has not been stored properly. It could be fine or it could be bad. Hate to take a chance when the picture can't be replaced.

I'm running out of time and steam

Write when you can

Love

Dad
